

Memorial to Mitsuo Magata (1921–1973)

With deep condolence we announce that Mr. Mitsuo Magata, D. Sc., passed away on March 27, 1973, owing to a heart disease. He was at that time Head of the Department of Forecast Research, the Meteorological Research Institute, Joining the Meteorological Agency in March 1943. He devoted his energies to meteorological statistics, dynamic meteorology, numerical weather prediction, and dynamical simulations of air-flow over mountains and of local weather. More recently, he was involved in the GARP-AMTEX program.

Since 1950, he has published seven articles in our Papers, all of which represent major contributions to the advance of the science. (Naosuke Saito, Forecast Research Laboratory, M. R. I.)
